Document, track and report on your ESG-related activities in a consistent manner using the Speeki Engage™ framework

An ESG programme is more than a decarbonisation project; it encompasses holistic programmes around key environmental, social and governance issues, including how a company engages with internal and external stakeholders.

ESG covers many topics, with each material area needing to be developed and managed with its own programme.

Building your ESG profile is the start of ESG management

Collaborate with different teams and build your ESG Profile based on your priorities.

ESG isn't owned by one person or one team; it is a collection of people working together across the company as part of an overall ESG programme. That is why you need one platform to manage all of your ESG efforts – one system to document ESG and track all of your initiatives.

Build and document your ESG-related activities in a consistent manner using the Speeki Engage framework.

Each risk profile follows a consistent approach according to the Engage framework, allowing you to speed up building out your programme in a consistent manner.

Account for different positions across entities.

When managing a large company, answers to certain ESG topics might be different according to different business groups or subsidiaries. Speeki addresses these differences by allowing variations of answers within the ESG Profile via additional entries.

ESG Profile consists of:

- ✓ profile data entry – companies can clearly and consistently describe the ESG programmes and management systems they use, with variations for different business units and geographies
- ✓ smart tagging – tagging allows companies to describe their programmes in a structured data format, allowing them to tie together stakeholder needs, risks, obligations and objectives
